Eleven Guilty In Plot

Top Communists Convicted; Five Attorneys Guilty Of Contempt

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(P)—Eleven top American Communist leaders today were convicted of conspiring to teach the forcible overthrow of the United States government.

The 11 defendants, all members of the Communist National Board, were remanded to jail to await sentencing next Friday at 10:30 a. m. They face sentences up to 10 years in prison and $10,000 fines each.

Eight of the defendants had been free on $5,000 bail.

Immediately after the verdict, five defense attorneys and one of the defendants were convicted of contempt of court.

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, who acted as his own counsel, was the defendant judged in contempt.

The five attorneys convicted of contempt were: Harry Sacher of New York, Richard F. Gladstein of San Francisco, Louis F. McCabe of Philadelphia, George W. Crockett, Jr., Negro, of Detroit, and Abraham J. Isserman of New York.

Among Convicted

Besides Dennis the defendants in the trial were:

Jacob Stachel, 48, director of the propaganda and education division.

Gilbert Green, 48, Illinois chairman.

John Gates, 36, editor of the Daily Worker.

Benjamin Davis, Jr., 46, New York City councilman.

Gus Hall, 39, Ohio chairman.

Irving Potash, 46, CIO fur workers union official.

Robert Thompson, 34, New York state chairman.

John Williamson, 45, labor secretary.

Henry Winston, 36, organizational secretary.

Carl Winter, 48, Michigan chairman.

Dennis is 44 years of age.

Gates, Hall, Thompson and Winston all served with the U. S. armed forces during the war.

Stachel, Potash and Williamson are foreign-born.

Contempt Sentences

Sentences were set at once for the attorneys.

Sacher and Gladstein received six months. Crockett was convicted under nine specifications and sentenced to four months on each to run concurrently. McCabe was given 30 days. Isserman was sentenced to four months.

Dennis was sent to prison for six months on the contempt charge.

The contempt judgements came as no surprise. Throughout the trial Judge Medina frequently warned the attorneys and Dennis about their conduct.

Thus ended, after seven hours of jury deliberation that began yesterday afternoon, a strife-ridden trial unprecedented in American history.

It was hinted during the trial that conviction of the leaders who are certain to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, might drive the Communist party underground in this country.

The 11 defendants, all members of the Communist National Board, face sentences up to 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine

Money to the Chest Fund is Still Coming

But Five Days Left In Which to Reach Goal of $20,300

Community Chest money is still pouring into the Chamber of Commerce office from all divisions with the thermometer going up and up, and red feathers everywhere over the city.

Anyone who has not been called in the residential section is asked to co-operate by sending in their check for the Community Chest. Some of the workers in the Women's Division have not been able to find people at home at some of the places where they have called.

Would Help Nursery

Not having the cash to donate to the Community Chest Drive, Mrs. Fannie Jones went to the Chamber of Commerce office today to tell them that she was trying to help by giving vegetables that she had grown in her garden to the Melita Day Nursery, one of the participating agencies.

One, two, three, four, five more days left—if you haven't given your contribution to the Community Chest fund, do it now, and help to reach the goal by the last day of the drive, October 19.

Hundred Percenters

Firms and their employees who have contributed to the Community Chest fund 100 percent are as follows:

Hunt on in London For Wild Cats

LONDON, Oct. 14—(P)—The hunt was on today for 20 near wildcats living in a "jungle" of weeds and bombed rubble near St. Paul's cathedral. They are domestic cats "gone savage."

A woman passerby was badly scratched by one this week.

One official said: "We've got to catch them or the city will be overrun by these vicious creatures. They're having kittens in the ruins."

Soviet Bloc Wants Treaties

Congratulates The New East German Republic

By Daniel De Luca

BERLIN, Oct. 14—(P)—Joseph Stalin today told east Germany's new Communist republic that the Germans and Russians together could keep Europe peaceful by fighting as hard for peace as they fought in the war.

Stalin's message of congratulations to east Germany's Communist leaders brought predictions from pro-Soviet sources here that the Soviet bloc would sign peace treaties with the new Red satellite by January.

Results of the tests were reported by Dr. Charles Cottman of the University of Michigan heredity clinic. He said the tests were "conclusive."

For two days the percentage of six-year-old William Thomas O'Neill had been in question.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson, hoping frantically, had come to Michigan, hoping Tommy would prove to be their son Ronald, kidnapped five years ago from their Dayton, Ohio, home.

In the tests, Tommy's blood was compared with that of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.

Anxious For Treaty

The Communist Polish regime's representatives in Berlin were especially enthusiastic at the prospect of a treaty putting the Polish-German frontier on the Oder and Neisse rivers. East of that line, in the former German provinces of Silesia, Pomerania and East Prussia, six million Poles have settled since the war.

All political elements in the Allied-sponsored west German republic except the Communists have demanded recently that the Oder-Neisse frontier be revised.

He declared that the Russian and German peoples made the greatest sacrifices in World War Two.

Name of Queen Kept Secret

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14—(P)—The 49 candidates were so beautiful that the blinking judges had to vote eight times before selecting the queen of the American Royal.

But her name is a well kept secret. She was to be told at a luncheon today.

The public will hear at the climax of the coronation ball tonight in municipal auditorium.

Judging of the girls took three hours yesterday with the six officials making requests for encores.

The platoon of lovelies hailed from six states—Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas.

The American Royal, a live stock and horse show, runs from Oct. 15-22.

The queen will reign over the show. She will be attended by two princesses and eight ladies-in-waiting.

To Confer at Night Trying To End Strike

Possible That Discussions Might Finish This Week

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14—(P)—Efforts to settle the five-week-old Missouri Pacific strike were stepped up today.

Guy A. Thompson, the railroad's trustee, announced negotiators trying to settle the 282 claims which led to the strike added a night session to their schedule.

This morning's meeting started 30 minutes earlier than on previous days this week.

Thompson said "We are not making the speed we would like" and that it is possible but doubtful that the discussions will be completed this week.

Formula Set-Up

When negotiators have exhausted means of settling the claims, they are to decide on some method for resolving those that remain unsettled. The 5,000 striking trainmen are to return to their jobs at that time. This procedure was set forth in a settlement formula accepted by both sides in the dispute last week.

After negotiating for six hours yesterday, Roy E. Davidson, spokesman for the unions, said two very important cases involving the engineers had been settled.

About 100 of the claims have been settled thus far by direct negotiations.

Eight union officers and eight company representatives are taking part in the peace talks at the Missouri Pacific building here.

"If it has to go to government, let it go to government," said George H. Love, chief spokesman for the operators negotiating here for two-thirds of the nation's commercial soft coal production.

"The average operator is a pretty impoverished fellow," Love told a news conference.

"There is no more reason to seize the industry than to seize the union," Love continued, hastening to add he was not suggesting that either.

"He is not going to cut his own throat by increasing his costs this year. If there is a spontaneous movement in this industry, as Mr. Lewis says there is, it is among the small coal operators. They are unanimous in saying that they can't pay any more."

Opportunity For a Thief to Repent

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14—(P)—A purse thief who accosted Mrs. Corinella Calfas, 47, has a golden opportunity to repent today.

Mrs. Calfas attempted to flee when the man demanded her purse on a street here last night. He seized a black object she was carrying and fled.

"He took my Bible," Mrs. Calfas said. "He can keep it. It will do him some good if he reads it."

Religion In The Home

Families will be urged to help promote a real Christian atmosphere in American Homes during a campaign being launched this fall by the Federal Council of Churches' Commission on Marriage and the Home. The slogan of the campaign will be: "Christianity Begins at Home."

The campaign will seek to inculcate a deeper understanding of the respect for religion. It will also stress the great Christian tradition of service and the importance of church-going and family prayer as means to develop and preserve the spiritual integrity of the individual.

Such campaigns are sorely needed in America, where the spirit of materialism has crept into many schools and colleges, and millions live as though God had no part whatever in their lives. Not that this is true in America alone. The spirit of godlessness is rampant everywhere.

In a recent statement, President Truman declared that "many times during the past decade the conviction has come to me with increasing force that a revival of the spirit of old-fashioned religion is what the world most needs."

The world needs the inspiration and guidance of religion perhaps more desperately than at any other time in history. The fact that materialism and spiritual indifference are growing is proof that proper religious training has been lacking in too many homes. Every home should be a cradle of religion. Those which have failed in their mission must be purified and strengthened if mankind is to learn the peace and security it craves.

The task is one that must weigh heavily on the consciences of parents. It is they alone who can shape the pattern of the future. Homes are units of society, each governed by a father and mother, who have a specific mandate from God to see to it that their children are taught to respect His laws and pay Him due honor. If this duty is neglected, individual parents incur a grave burden of guilt. If the neglect appears in great numbers of homes, it spells a collective tragedy involving the well-being and happiness of society as a whole.

A good parent must teach and advise his children regarding truths and practices of sound Christian living. He must maintain a wise discipline. Above all, he himself must be a living example of the Christ-like precepts he seeks to inculcate in his children.

Isaiah Saw Danger Of Prophecies

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The prophet Isaiah, greatest of the early prophets of Israel, and some would say the greatest of all the Hebrew prophets, lived and prophesied in the eighth century before Christ.

The kingdom consolidated by King David, and his son, Solomon, for over a hundred years before Isaiah's time had been divided into the Southern Kingdom, or Kingdom of Israel, or Samaria. Isaiah prophesied in the Southern Kingdom, during the four reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah (Isaiah 1:1). At about the same time Amos, who is not to be confused with Amos, the father of Isaiah, was prophesying in the Northern Kingdom, but that kingdom fell, never to be re-established, in the Assyrian invasion in 722 B. C.

The times were times of invasion and violence, and the miracle of the prophecies is that such visions of hope and peace, of comity between nations, should have come out of such experiences of the Hebrew people and their environment of powerful and warlike surrounding nations. In that respect the times were not unlike our own, when again in spite of world wars, and threat of war, the vision and hope of a peaceful world persists.

This might be the greatest and deepest thing about the prophecies. It links them with our times, and it is marvelous how their vision and hope have kept alive through all the ages. Two things above all characterized Isaiah, a deep love for his people, and a deeper love for God. He was devout and earnest but also marked by an intense courage and a self-sacrificing spirit.

He is a type of those born to wealth and privilege, who have set the service of God and their fellowmen above all else. Various references indicate that Isaiah was born to high social rank. He was apparently happy in his wife, who shared his prophetic spirit, and in his family. With his deep love for his people, he also evidently knew how dangerous was the situation of those who dared to prophesy unpleasant truths to the people whom they loved, and to bring home to them their sins, and the impending doom that their disregard of God and right made real.

Tradition is that he met death by being sawn asunder, though the ancient records of the Book of Kings do not confirm this. But he chose deliberately to be God's voice and God's messenger. It was a dangerous but noble calling.

He looked out upon the nations from the viewpoint of an ideal Israel, called by God to a high place of leadership. He hoped Israel might be a powerful and leavening influence among the larger empires, leading them into a true religion of peace and comity.

How much of this prophetic vision was realized? How much as a prophet's dream, that still remains to be fulfilled? These questions I shall seek to answer in future comment.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"DOCTRINE OF ATONEMENT" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 16, 1949.

Golden Text: II Cor. 5:18.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible. "My little children, these things I write unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: (I John 2:1). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: " each. Medina announced he would sentence them next Friday at 10:30 a.m.

William Z. Foster, national chairman of the party, faces trial later on the same charge. He was indicted with the 11 others but was granted a postponement because of a heart condition.

A dead, shocked silence greeted the verdicts. There was no demonstration. The defendants and their lawyers leaned forward eagerly, then sat back, impassive, when the word "guilty" was pronounced.

Defense attorney Harry Sacher demanded and got a poll of the jury for the verdict against each defendant.

The packed federal courtroom, scene of many a jangling outburst since the trial began last Jan. 17, was crowded and tense when the eight women and four men on the jury filed in at 11:28 a.m. (EST).

Speaking firmly, the foreman—Mrs. Thelma Dial, a Negro—announced: "We find each and every one of the defendants guilty."

The eight women and four men were ordered to resume their deliberations at 9:30 a.m. today.

Eight of the defendants went home for the night to the cheers and applause of their sympathizers, about 100 of whom kept a vigil outside the federal court building. The other three defendants still are in jail during out-of-court hours for contempt.

Picketing has been an off-and-on feature of the historic trial since it began in Federal Judge Harold R. Medina's courtroom last Jan. 17.

If the board rules Parks is not capable of handling the route and refuses to sanction the merger plan, it will re-award the route or portions of it to Mid-Continent or other applicants.

Few passengers, Ozark's statement said, object to single-engine planes if they are comfortable, fast and roomy. The lack of an extra engine, it is said, is offset by the ease with which it can be landed in most cleared spaces in emergencies.

In the event of heavy passenger loads, Ozarks said schedules could be doubled with only the added expense of the operation cost of the airplane.

The low initial cost of the airplane and the greatly reduced maintenance cost will enable Ozark to give the maximum service to the communities to be served at a very low cost to the government (in air mail pay). Ozark said.

Plotters to Die For Treason

The major point of the program of East Germany's Communist prime minister Otto Grotewohl is German renunciation of these eastern war-lost colonies.

The United States, Britain and France countenanced the expulsion of millions of German inhabitants from the lost eastern territories, but the allied powers since have insisted that Germany's present eastern boundary is only temporary and is subject to change at the peace conference.

(In Moscow, Stalin's letter was prominently displayed in morning newspapers. It was seen as an indication of Stalin's great interest in the new German government, since the Soviet premier seldom sends such congratulatory messages to new governments.)

Visit Here on Way To Attend Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Diederick, of Yakima, Wash., will arrive this evening for a visit with Mrs. Diederick's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bernard, 405 West Fourth street. They will visit in Sedalia about ten days, after which they will go to Cleveland, O., to attend the golden wedding anniversary of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William Bernard, which will be October 30. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bernard will be unable to attend the celebration.

The truly discriminating have always favored our establishment for the pains-taking attention to such details as effortless procedure and nicey of surroundings . . . as well as for the memorial beauty of the service itself.

Agree on Brief Stop-Gap Fund

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(P)—The House today agreed to continue stop-gap financing of the armed services until next Tuesday but flatly refused to go along with Senate proposals to run it into 1950.

By a standing vote of 109 to 4, members slapped down the Senate's plan to fix Jan. 15, 1950, as a new deadline for passage of the regular appropriation bill for the army, navy and air force.

It countered with a proposal to extend the stop-gap period until October 18.

The Senate's idea already had met an indignant reception from Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) in the House.

Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, told newsmen he will ask the House to table — and thus kill — the Senate proposal. He said it would "seriously affect the national defense program at a time when chances cannot be taken."

"It is ridiculous," he added, "to ask the national military establishment to operate on an uncertain basis for one-fourth of the entire fiscal year in times like these."

One result of the tangled money situation is that the armed services have a payday up on Saturday, and no money to meet it unless something breaks in a hurry.

The committee cooked and served lunch to the workmen and also F. W. Sayers and Hilliard Brewster of the highway department. A special guest was Dr. Good, president of the School of the Ozarks, who was visiting Mr. Sayers.

Tourists are using the park in great numbers, with cars from three different states being noticed at the park at one time. Citizens and organizations of Sedalia and community are invited to use the park whenever they like, but the committee urges that all going to it take pride in it, and leave the grounds as they find them.

Sellout to Hear Miss Truman

ATLANTA, Oct. 14.—(P)—A sellout crowd of 5,500 attended the opening of the Atlanta concert season last night by Margaret Truman.

Just about everybody who is anybody in the top flight social brackets of this old time Comebride stronghold were on hand to greet the President's daughter with warm applause.

It was Miss Truman's first appearance this year as a lyric soprano.

Unfortunately for Miss Truman the night was warm and sticky and the audience sought relief from the oppressive heat in the non-airconditioned auditorium by fanning vigorously with programs.

Though Miss Truman appeared to be quite cool in her pink marquise and black lace gown, she reached quickly for a towel each moment she was off-stage.

Most of Miss Truman's program was well tailored for her voice — simple and sedate drawing room songs.

She was recalled for six encores.

This park is the first to have a Blue Star Memorial Highway marker in Missouri.

The park, now practically completed, has a gravelled drive and parking area, four rustic rock fireplaces, five picnic tables and a wiener roast circle with two rows of logs surrounding a large flat rock and gravel fireplace.

The wiener roast circle will seat between 40 and 50 persons and is sponsored by the Junior Garden clubs. It is an ideal place for Scout troops or any large group of young people to go for an outing. Near the log circle is a sand pile surrounded by big flat rocks where small children may play.

Funeral of Harry Williams

Funeral services for Harry Williams, of Tipton, who died Monday, October 10 at his home, were held at the Richards funeral home at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. J. L. Freeman, pastor of the Versailles Christian church.

Pallbearers were: E. G. Crawford, Tom Briscoe, Claude Ferguson, Frank Bull, Turner Woods and Adolph Sieber.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Stanley Ferguson with Mrs. Frank Quigley at the piano.

Interment was made in the I.O.O.F. cemetery.

Mr. Williams had been in failing health over an extended period. He was born in Cooper county, April 9, 1873, a son of Isaac and Ann Williams. He was married to Miss Laura Bell Snorgrass of Tipton, November 20, 1900 who survives, together with one son, Virgil of St. Louis.

Preceding him in death were his parents, one sister, Mrs. Harry Short and one brother, Vernon.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church where he served as an elder. He spent his entire life as an active farmer until the last three years, when he retired due to ill health.

Enlarging Aid For Beginners—Tones of print can be matched to constant tones of plastic gadget.

By Irving Desfor

AP Newsfeatures

How's about our going down into the dark room and turning on the bright lights? If we're going to settle down for a winter's work, we might as well see if things are ship-shape. Just as I thought, it's kind of messy. Plenty of dust around, too. Ooops, sorry . . . didn't see that bottle on the floor. I was looking at these stained trays and wondering how you kept the splashes from the rest of the table. Oh, it happens often, just as I thought.

As you can see, I'm hinting that the fall season is spring cleaning time for the camera fan, with a dark room. A thorough job will make it easier to get at the work and produce better results. It'll pay off in eliminating some of the pinholes and blemishes that crop up on negatives and prints, due to dust and dirt. It is the time to rearrange the dark room set up to make a more logical and orderly work system. It is of prime importance to see that you have a "dry area" (containing the enlarger or contact printer, paper, negative box, etc.) and a separate "wet area" (with the trays, solutions, faucets, etc.)

If your dark room needs a physical overhauling, or you are planning to build one, you can get free booklets with model layouts from Eastman Kodak, Rochester, N. Y. and from Ansco, Binghamton, N. Y.

For the amateur just beginning to work at home, an inexpensive Home Developing outfit to process his own prints has just been announced by Ansco. It contains a plastic safelight, three bakelite trays, all necessary chemicals, paper, thermometer, clips, stirring rod and a metal printer with built-in safelight.

After a few sessions of contact printing you'll probably want to tackle the next, and more important phase of printing . . . enlarging. Here is where your picture taking really gives the greatest personal satisfaction when you ring the bell with something good. But the beginner's problems in enlarging are many. First he has to crop the negative to the best advantage and focus sharply. Then he has to choose the right grade of paper, close the diaphragm and expose correctly. Finally he has to develop the print to the proper degree before fixing and washing.

Well, here's a brand new gadget to make life easier for the beginner in determining just when the print is developed to the proper degree. Fans, meet the "Agi-Tone" comparator, a plastic tone guide against which you match the print as it develops. It is shaped like a four-leaf clover, each leaf a different tone, and pierced with a large hole. The print is seen through the center hole and around the leaf. The lightest leaf matches the flesh tone usually desired in portraiture. The next leaf is equivalent to a Miami Beach tan. The third takes in the mid-key values of clothing, walls, etc. The darkest tone is for the shadow areas.

The four leaves are attached to a stem and knob, which makes it easy to use as an agitator while developing. Molded of an inert plastic, it does not affect or react to the developing solutions. It takes a beating, too, being strong and flexible. They say it won't shatter if dropped, but I don't think they mean from

Whitecotton To Head Jefferson City Troop

MACON, Mo., Oct. 14—(P)—Capt Thomas E Whitecotton of Jefferson City assumed the temporary command of the state highway patrol B here today.

He relieves Maj. G. R. Minor, who will begin new duties as assistant to patrol superintendent David E. Harrison at Jefferson City.

Whitecotton has been a member of the patrol since its beginning in 1931. He served as state penal director during former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly's term.

Major Minor has commanded troop B since Jan. 15, 1947.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

President Has Soured on Agriculture Secretary

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—Only a few insiders know it, but President Truman has turned sour against his former secretary of agriculture, Clinton Anderson. In fact, the other day the president hurled his favorite insult against Anderson, now serving in the Senate from New Mexico. He called him a "big-interest man."

What prompted this bitter epithet was Anderson's fight against flat, 90 per cent farm supports. The President had long suspected that Anderson was quietly knifing the Brannan farm plan, but the clincher came when Anderson urged a "compromise" 75 to 90 per cent, flexible price support scale.

Anderson had spread the impression that the President was backing his compromise. Puzzled, a congressional visitor put the questions warily to Truman.

"In the Senate," he said, "Elmer Thomas (of Oklahoma) quoted you as being for 90 per cent parity, while Dick Russell (of Georgia) said he understood you were against 90 per cent."

"I don't know how Dick got that idea," Truman broke in.

"Senator Anderson seems to have taken command," added the congressman. "Personally I don't care for Anderson's philosophy."

"Well, Clint Anderson is a big-interest man," declared the president firmly.

"As between Anderson's bill and straight 90 per cent parity," Truman continued, "I naturally favor 90 per cent because we campaigned on that basis."

The President added that, of all the farm bills that had come out, he liked Congressman Stephen Pace's the best, because the Georgia congressman had included the production payment feature of the Brannan plan.

Referring again to Anderson, the congressional visitor pointed out that big-interest men who pose as liberals are much more dangerous than out-and-out reactionaries.

"There is no question about that," agreed the President emphatically.

Note—Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan has been frentil over Anderson's opposition, but hasn't raised his voice against his former boss—because Charlie owes his job to him.

John L. Lewis Roars

John L. Lewis was at his roaring best when the coal operators met with federal mediation chief Cy Ching on their first try to settle the coal strike. While the meeting got nowhere, it certainly didn't lack sound effects.

The northern operators—led by Harry Moses, president of U. S. Steel's H. C. Frick company, and George Love, of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company—suggested that negotiations be based on Lewis' last contract, which expired June 30. The Southern mine owners, led by Joseph Moody, didn't want to go this far, contending there should first be reforms in the welfare fund.

Boiling mad, Lewis thundered: "I will not discuss the old contract. Unless you gentlemen are willing to talk about increased wages and payments into the welfare fund, as well as reduced working hours for the men who toil underground, there is no purpose in my remaining here."

Turning a baleful glare on Moses, Love and Moody, he added wrothily that he might have known he would be wasting his time endeavoring to deal with "these economic puppets of the United States Steel company and the Cleveland Trust company."

The operator trio chuckled. They had been called worse names than this by the eloquent miners' boss.

Captive Mines

"Why, you have no authority to speak for your bosses in U. S. Steel or the Cleveland Trust company," Lewis went on, referring to the Cleveland bank's interest in Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal and U. S. Steel's ownership of the H. C. Frick Co. "So, why do you waste my time? If it was a question of matching authority in the United Mine Workers, I would send five of my local union presidents to deal across the table with you."

The operators reminded Lewis that he should not accuse them of making no "offer" to settle the strike, since he had made no specific offer himself.

"I have labor to sell," replied Lewis. "It's up to the operators to bid for it."

Ching Gets Wordslide

Mediator Ching diplomatically remarked that the coal strike could never be mediated and settled until both sides showed a more cooperative attitude. But this provoked another wordslide from Lewis.

"What do you mean by mediation?" he demanded. "Why don't you use some on the operators to make them stop their highhanded oppression of labor?"

"I have no authority to make either side in this dispute do anything," replied Ching. "All I can do is bring you together and help you settle your differences."

"Then what are we talking for, if you have no authority?" bellowed John L. "Haven't you the interest of the American people at heart? Don't you know the difference between right and wrong?"

"Now, wait a minute," retorted Ching, curbing his temper. "No one is more desirous of seeing the coal mines back in production than I am. But this strike will never be settled without some give-and-take by both sides. I can only suggest and make proposals as we go along. I can't force either of you to accept anything. I'm no arbitrator."

On this note, the meeting finally broke up. Note—There is little prospect of settling the Steel strike until the coal strike is settled. For the steel companies won't start their furnaces until they are sure of coal.

• We Can't Stop Our Efforts to Defeat Red Tactics in Germany

By Bruce Brossat

The West German state sponsored by the three western powers now has a Soviet-supported eastern competitor. Its creation is Russia's newest move in the cold war; but it has not struck fear in western hearts.

It is a flat admission that for a time at least the Russians have given up hope of gaining control of all Germany. They have acknowledged that the government of the western zones is too strong to be pushed aside easily.

This is no small admission. The eastern zone controlled by the Soviet Union is largely agricultural and has a population of about 19,000,000. Some 45,000,000 people and most of Germany's industry are concentrated in the West German republic.

Since the close of World War II Russia has held a tight grip on the east German sector. Thus to formalize this control by establishing an East German republic is to startle nobody.

Furthermore, the western powers apparently do not intend to let the move go unchallenged. Officials have hinted that the three nations will very likely counter the Soviet action by incorporating the western areas of Berlin into the general western zone. This would tend to strengthen western Berlin against the gnawing economic difficulties now handicapping the city.

Russia naturally is endeavoring to put the brightest possible face on its maneuver. It proclaims the new government as a provisional "all-German" state, throwing out broad hints that representatives from western sectors will somehow be chosen to make the new eastern parliament actually a national rather than regional affair.

Moscow trained German leaders in the Soviet zone call for liquidation of the West German state, the re-establishment of political and economic unity in the country and the designating of Berlin as the "national" capital.

Meantime, Russian publications suggest that the Soviet Union may recognize the new regime as the only true German government, may sign a separate peace treaty with it and withdraw Russian troops from eastern German territory.

Moscow has talked many times of such moves, hoping always to awaken support for Russia in the minds of Germans. Up to now the appeals have fallen on deaf ears. Western authorities do not believe these latest hints, even if they are translated into reality, will make a deep impression on the stubborn Germans.

What Russia can get out of eastern Germany she is already getting. No new advantage is likely to come to her as result of this move.

Nor are the western powers liable to lose ground in the German phase of the cold war so long as they continue to strive earnestly for a unified policy aimed at leading Germany gradually but surely toward genuine political democracy and a healthy economy.

Progress thus far has been moderately good. But there can be no slackening of effort, for fear that the Germans, however much they seem to hate their Russian neighbors, will some day yield to their appeals as the only positive answer they can see to economic and political chaos.

Deserves More

A New Jersey resident of 90 was honored not long ago by the railroad on which he has commuted to New York for 50-odd years. The railroad president's private car hauled the old gentleman to and from work on the big occasion.

It was a fancy gesture but it still seems small recompense for the anguish of half a century of fording the turbulent stream of commuters that flows in and out of Manhattan.

Belief That Housewives Have Little to do is Worn-out Myth

"You say 'most unhappy housewives have one thing in common.' Well, I'll tell you what a mere male thinks they have in common—not enough to do so that they have time for sitting around studying over whether they are happy or not." So writes one of my men readers.

That's a popular masculine belief, Mister. But it's mostly a myth.

At least it's not true of the frustrated housewives who write to me.

Many of them enclose a schedule of typical day in their lives—and those schedules would make enlightened reading for a lot of men who claim the whole trouble with women is that they have too much time on their hands.

The housewife who gets up at 6:30 and keeps on the jump until 8 o'clock, cooking, washing dishes, scrubbing, washing clothes, ironing, baby-tending, and so forth and so on, isn't being made unhappy by too much leisure.

Take Good Care of Tonsillitis
—It May Grow to be Serious

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

There are several kinds of inflammation of the tonsils, or as its more commonly known, tonsillitis. Tonsillitis often results from infection with a germ called the streptococcus. Indeed tonsillitis, or in the absence of the tonsils a severe sore throat, is typical at the beginning of scarlet fever which is a streptococcus disease.

Tonsillitis may be caused by other germs and perhaps some by viruses. Most of those who have not lost their tonsils early in life have experienced one or more attacks of acute tonsillitis, and they do not have to be told that this is an unpleasant and painful disorder. Usually they have fever with it and feel just miserable!

If they go to bed promptly, drink plenty of fluids, and perhaps are given one of the sulfa drugs or penicillin, recovery also occurs without much delay.

Acute tonsillitis is never treated by removing the tonsils at the time when the inflammation is severe. If it is necessary to remove the tonsils at all—and this is not always the case—one must wait until the acute infection has quieted down. If this is not done there is danger of letting dangerous germs into the blood stream, causing blood poisoning and perhaps death.

a bit run down at the heels, the too short skirt.

Rick noticed her quietness. "The babies okay?"

She nodded.

"Tod?"

She nodded again. He grinned and gave her arm a squeeze. "Remember that other time all the crazy things we bought, and when Tod got home I was wearing one of your aprons cooking up some crazy thing?" He opened the door and they went into the market. Rick got a cart and began pushing it.

It was so good to laugh with Rick. Now if Tod would only get an early bus home, the three of them could have a wonderful evening together.

RICK was delighted with the twins, tottering about now on unsteady legs, and making delightful bubbly efforts at conversation. He was glad to take over from Mrs. Slattery.

A hilarious time ensued, with Rick crawling about on all fours from behind chairs and the twins making the room echo with laughter.

"I'll never get them to go to sleep," Jenny cried happily. It wasn't often they had such a romp. But Rick helped her get them into their sleepers, and he washed their faces while Jenny got their milk ready.

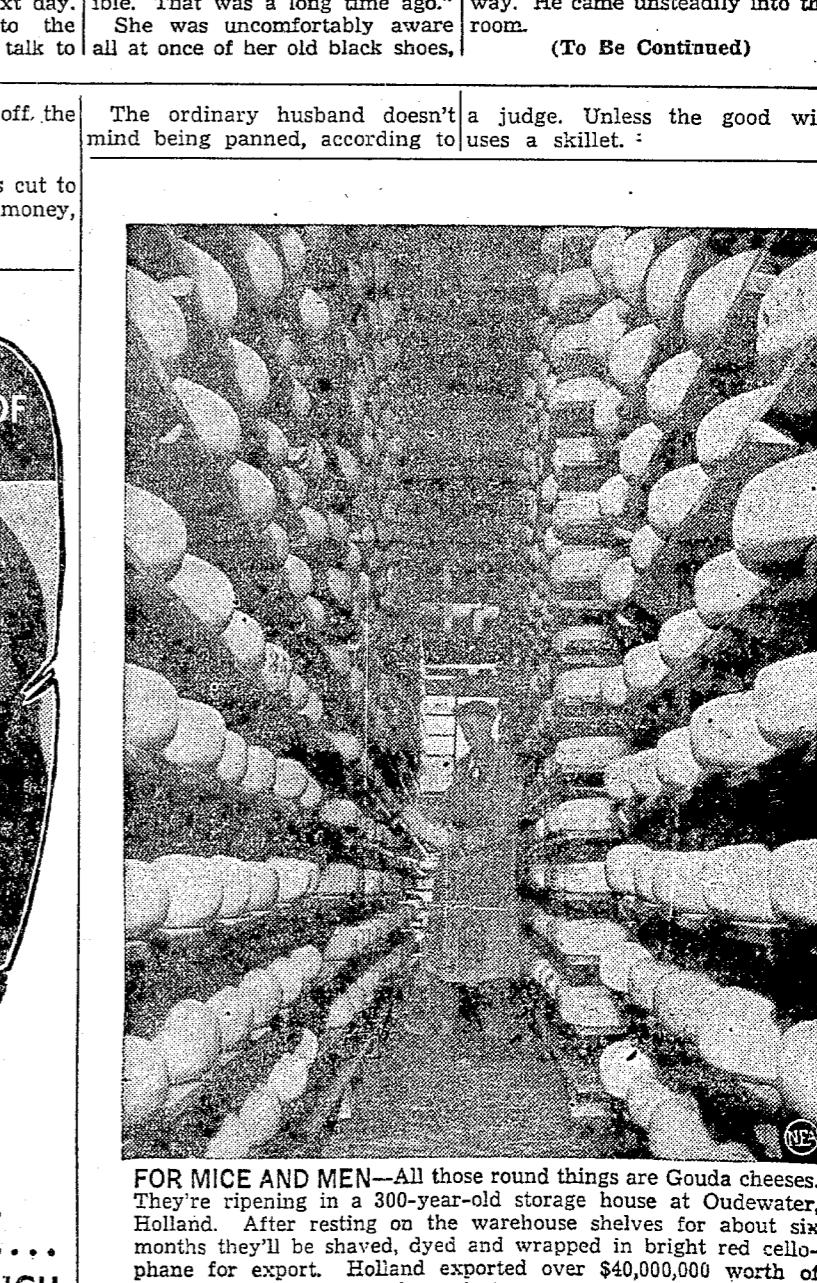

It was now 6 o'clock and no sign of Tod. Rick's gayety did not diminish. He insisted on going out to the kitchen to help prepare dinner. Jenny kept running to the front windows of the living room every time a bus was due.

At seven still no Tod. The potatoes, delightfully fluffy half hour ago were stiff now. The gravy, made by Rick's own recipe, with sherry wine, had congealed a trifle.

Jenny filled two plates, while Rick poured the chilled wine. He held Jenny's chair for her. "Don't worry so, Jenny. Nothing's happened," he said, smiling down at her.

They had just unfolded their napkins when the door opened and Tod saluted them from the doorway. He came unsteadily into the room.

Tigers Play Hannibal Here Tonight

Pirates Defeated By Columbia 13-0; S.C. Won Three Games

The Smith-Cotton Tigers will play the Hannibal Pirates in their second conference engagement, tonight at Liberty Park, under the lights, at 8:00 o'clock. Hannibal, one of the conference favorites, will be one of the toughest challengers of the 1949 season for the Tigers, not to belittle the power of the Columbia Kewpies, who trounced the Pirates by a score of 13-0.

Eyes On Conference Title

But the Tigers with three victories under their belts, Marshall 13-6; Kemper 27-0 and St. Peters 32-13, will not be an easy conquest for any team, who has their eye on the conference championship.

The Pirates have won three grid meets this season and have lost one. They defeated Winchester 12-0; Jefferson City 25-13 and St. Charles 19-7. Last Friday the team dropped their first game of the season to Columbia 13-0.

On the starting lineup of Hannibal will be eight seniors, all lettermen, in addition to one junior classman, who also lettered in football. The heaviest man on the Pirate lineup is Don McCullum, tackle, who tips the scales at 186 pounds.

The probable line up will be as follows:

TIGERS	Pos.	PIRATES
Herrick	le	Baker
Wheeler	lt	McCully
Young	lg	Brooks
D. Dowdy	c	Martin
Bryant	rg	Reger
Phillips	rt	Sanders
Eickhoff	re	Reed
G. Dowdy	qb	Ruffin
Pummill	rh	Crawford
Ray	fb	Hathaway

Some Tiger Injuries

Coach Ralph Dow has reported that quite a few of the boys are out on account of flu, colds and other ailments, but that he expects most of them to start the game tonight. Another point Coach Dow made was that there had been very poor attendance at the games so far this season and he asks that more people come out and cheer the home team. This week there is a special treat for the fans not only will there be a vicious and hard fought game to enjoy but tonight is "Dad" night and each father will be there cheering his son on to victory.

So for a "A-1" gridiron engagement be out at the park to see Coach Ira Wynn's Hannibal Pirates play the Smith-Cotton Tigers.

Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(P)—

Leftover reports from world series visitors — nothing guaranteed — One mid-western writer insists that the Indians won't be sold soon because they already have been sold. No hint as to the identity of the buyers except that Hank Greenberg doesn't figure in the deal. . . . Another informant says the reason why Branch Rickey has been peddling so many players is that the Dodgers are really hard up for ready cash to pay off some loans. . . . The farm system has been expensive and Rickey and the other Brooklyn owners are said to be at odds on the subject of cutting down agricultural operations. . . . Al Lopez, Indianapolis manager, was offered the Cincinnati job but turned it down after getting a raise from his Pittsburgh bosses and a promise that he'll be made Pirate manager when and if Billy Meier retires.

Sherman Right Again

The other day, Al Sherman, the football Giants backfield coach, promised to buy a hand-painted necktie for defensive halfback Emlen Tunnell every time Emlen intercepted a pass. . . . Tunnel then went out and grabbed everything in sight against the Redskins last Sunday, costing Sherman about 15 bucks. . . . After one notable shoe-top interception, Emlen returned to the sidelines asking: "Where's Red Smith? Maybe I can play for the Cubs next summer."

Sports Before Your Eyes

When the Victoria, B. C., and Tacoma, Wash., hockey clubs meet tomorrow night it will be the first clash between the teams operated by Lester Patrick, retired head man of the Rangers, and his younger son, Murray. . . . Muzz Patrick is listed as general manager, coach and publicity man at Tacoma and reports say he's returning to the active player list. . . . Fred Egan, who won the Hambletonian this year with Miss Tilly, says Scotch Dean is a better juvenile trotter now than Miss T. was a year ago. . . . Sport writer Jeanne Hoffman, newly-appointed executive editor of the Police Gazette, probably is the niftiest blonde to appear in that celebrated publication. . . .

Bealmeir's Grid Guessing Goes Into His Fourth Week

By Austin Bealmeir

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(P)—The business of forecasting football games gets tougher and this week will go down as one of the toughest. With an average that already has dipped to .793 on 1942 correct guesses and 37 misses, we stumble into the fourth round of pigskin predictions for 1949:

Tulane vs. Notre Dame—here's the top game of the week, maybe of the year. It has been so long since the Irish were beaten that most Notre Dame players don't know how it feels to lose. They are favored again, by something like 13 points the last time we looked. It may be foolish, but we have a hunch the Green Wave will be able to outscore the Yales. Make it Cornell.

Michigan vs. Northwestern—with the pressure off, the Wolverines should rebound from the Army thing if Chuck Ortmann has recovered from his untimely injury. Michigan.

Texas vs. Arkansas—both these teams took it on the chin last week. The Longhorns are unlikely to drop two in a row. Texas

Number Four For Sooners

Kansas vs. Oklahoma—the unbeaten Sooners have too much power for a team that has lost three out of four. No. 4 for Oklahoma.

Running rapidly over the rest of the week-end's better games:

"LAKE ERIE" SPRANG A LEAK—Senators got a jolt when the water from a huge painting of the Battle of Lake Erie began to trickle out of the picture and flow in the general direction of the Potomac. Explanation: The Senate roof was flooded to prevent fires while renovation workmen used blow torches. The water leaked through on the painting, inflicting considerable damage. The sailor at left appears to be debating the problem as workmen examine the damage.

Navy Veteran Murderer Is Being Sought

Want L. Hawkins; Sorrow For Parents Of Victim In Okla.

JERSEYVILLE, Ill., Oct. 14—(P)—The police of several states are now searching for Leonard (Lucky) Hawkins in connection with the slaying of Albert E. Clark, 23-year-old Navy veteran of Boise City, Okla.

Clark's body, a bullet wound in the head, was found yesterday near a lonely road 3½ miles south of here.

Killed And Robbed

Sheriff C. E. Wedding of Jersey county said he had sworn out a first degree murder warrant against Hawkins on the basis of the evidence against him. Clark, the sheriff said, was shot and robbed of an undetermined amount of money and his automobile. He had been dead about a week when the body was found by a farmer.

Sheriff Wedding said his office had learned that Clark had left there about Oct. 1 to attend the world series which he expected would be played in St. Louis. Wedding said a man who gave the name of Hawkins had accompanied Clark.

Would Pay Expenses

New Mexico officers said the man told Clark he would pay the expenses of the trip if Clark would drive his (Clark's) new car.

Search for Hawkins centered in New Mexico and Texas after a Dalhart, Texas, girl reported a man kidnapped her last Saturday and robbed her escort. She said she was taken away in a car which she identified from papers as Clark's.

The girl, Juanita Groves, 19, said she escaped by striking the man on the head with a fire extinguisher in a Vega, Texas, tourist court. The man had fled when she returned with police.

AMARILLO, Tex., Oct. 14—(P)—One son of an Oklahoma farm couple underwent a critical operation Thursday while authorities searched for the slayer of another son.

The saddened couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Clark of Boise City, Okla., stayed by the bedside of their son Doyle after the 21-year-old youth was operated on in St. Anthony's hospital for stomach ulcers.

Physicians said the operation was successful and Doyle's condition was "favorable."

The Clark's second son, Alfred, 23, was found dead Wednesday beside a country road three and a half miles south of Jerseyville, Ill., shot through the head and robbed.

Society Bride Is Excommunicated

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(P)—A honeymooning society bride was declared excommunicated by the Roman Catholic church for going through a second wedding ceremony in the Russian Orthodox church.

She is the former Claire Elizabeth McGinnis of San Francisco who was married Monday in St. Patrick's cathedral to Ivan Obolensky, an Astor fortune heir and son of a former Russian Prince.

A few hours later the young couple went through the traditional "double crown" ceremony at the Russian Orthodox cathedral to satisfy the Obolensky family.

Up To Bride Now

The excommunication announcement was made by the Catholic Arch-Diocese of New York, headed by Francis Cardinal Spellman.

It said:

"In response to many inquiries received at the Chancery office, relative to the double ceremony, we wish to state that before this marriage was arranged at St. Patrick's cathedral, both parties solemnly promised in writing that there would be only the Catholic ceremony."

Both, therefore, violated a solemn promise in having the second ceremony, and the Catholic party automatically incurred excommunication by this action."

A Chancery official said the next move is up to Mrs. Obolensky if she wishes to remain in the church. This would be to confer with church officials and find out

About $129,000,000 To Nation's Mail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(P)—An addition of approximately $129,000,000 (M) to the nation's mail bill was recommended by the House post office committee.

This is about half the amount asked by Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson to meet part of an annual deficit. Post office operations currently are running around half a billion dollars a year in the red.

The committee approved only about 10 per cent of the increase asked on newspaper and magazine mailing rates. It slapped the heaviest charges against the penny postcard and parcel post.

The total increases approved by the committee in each postal class are:

Publications Rate Up

Second class (publications) $13,500,000. The post office department had asked a total of $125,000,000.

Post cards, approximately $36,000,000, with the penny post card upped from one to two cents.

Third class, approximately $23,000,000. The principal increase would come from a hike in bulk mailing charges from one to 1½ cents a pound.

Four class (parcel post), approximately $40,000,000. Parcel post packages would be increased about five cents each, with most of the increase applied to the first pound.

Probation For Vet On Narcotic Charge

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 14—(P)—A street cleaner pleaded guilty on Thursday to a charge of selling narcotics his war bride said she smuggled in from Italy.

Clyde Porche, 3, a veteran of Bataan, was then placed on probation for two years by Federal Judge Roger H. Savage. He is an employee of the Tulsa street department.

Porche and his wife, 29, were arrested last week by narcotics agents who found 60 tablets of morphine on them. Mrs. Porche expects a baby soon and was not charged because of her condition.

She met Porche while he served with the occupation army near Pieire Di Soligo, in northern Italy. Her first husband, an Italian, was killed during an air raid.

what penance she must undergo to have the ban lifted.

Wanting Wife From Germany Heldup Bank

Air Force Sergeant Captured Soon After Robbing Ark. Bank

DES ARC, Ark., Oct. 14—(P)—A bespectacled Air Force sergeant carrying a wad of currency was arrested Thursday shortly after a county bank was held up.

The soldier, recently returned from overseas, told officers he robbed the bank for money to bring his wife to this country from Germany.

Held Without Charge

He was identified as Jack Charles Walden, 27, Little Rock. He is being held here without charge.

Walden, wearing civilian clothes, was nabbed at Stuttgart, 30 minutes after a lone-wolf gunman robbed the Planters Bank & Trust Co., at De Valls Bluff and fled in an automobile with about $2,000. That was at 1 p. m.

DeValls Bluff is 20 miles south of here and Stuttgart is 25 miles south of De Valls Bluff. Des Arc, county seat of Prairie, is about 55 miles northeast of Little Rock.

Arkansas state police Sgt. W. T. Bolin said J. H. Calhoun, in charge of the bank, had identified the six-foot soldier as the gunman.

Obtained $1,848.75

Cash amounting to $1,848.75 and a German Luger pistol were taken off Walden. The money was turned over to the bank.

Walden said he was returned to the United States Sept. 29 from Germany and given a 45-day furlough before he was due to report to Scott Air Base, Bellville, Ill., for reassignment.

Police Chief I. H. Stringer of Stuttgart quoted Walden as saying:

"I want to get my wife over here. That's why I stuck up the bank."

Stringer, Deputy Sheriff W. B. Appleby and Street Commissioner Cecil Thomas apprehended Walden near the Stuttgart golf links

Economy ratio: 19 to 1!

Imagine—19 miles per gallon, from a 135-HP Eight! Come in—see how Packard does it!

As every driver knows, gas mileage varies with speed, traffic and driver habits.

So, to give you a complete picture of Packard gasoline economy, we've made a nation-wide survey among over 1,000 owners of the new 135-HP Packard Eight, equipped with overdrive,* and we've charted their reports.

Notice, now, that the most frequently mentioned figure is 19 highway miles per gallon—and that 33% of the owners are getting even more than 19!

That's the operating economy you get from Packard "free-breathing" engine design—along with a delightful new kind of silent smoothness...

a sensational brand of "safety-sprint"; reserve power... and a greater measure of trouble-free durability than you've ever known before! Sample it soon!

Dozen On Bomber Killed

B-50 Carrying Live Bombs Explodes In Wheat Field on Mission to Island

ISLEHAM, Eng., Oct. 13—(AP)—A U. S. Air Force B-50 bomber with a load of live bombs dived into a wheat field today and exploded with a roar heard 12 miles away. All 12 crew members were killed.

The plane, designed as the atom bomb carrying version of the B-29, was on a 150-mile practice mission to the North sea island of Helgoland with twelve 500-pound bombs.

Villagers said the plane appeared to burst into flames just before it dropped through a light green fog and struck the field. Flaming bits of the four-engined craft were blown hundreds of yards in all directions from the huge central crater dug by the blast.

Burning gasoline set fire to a ring of farm buildings and to 60 tons of stacked wheat. Windows shattered and plaster ceilings fell in Isleham houses. Fire equipment was summoned from nearby Newmarket, 60 miles northeast of London, and from Cambridge, Mildenhall and Oxfordham.

Crash Soon After Takeoff

The U. S. third air division in London said the plane crashed at 9:25 a. m. local time, only a few minutes after it left Lakenheath airfield, seven miles away in adjoining Norfolk county, for its Helgoland mission. Both British and American aircraft regularly use Helgoland for live bombing practice. Helgoland was a Nazi submarine and anti-aircraft base during the war.

The third air division said this was the first accident involving a B-50 since the 43rd group of these craft arrived Aug. 18 from their Tucson, Ariz., base. The group is stationed at Scholthorpe, Norfolk county, for 90 days of operational training. A B-50 bomber crashed near Fairbanks, Alaska, last Dec. 22, killing all ten men aboard.

The third air division withheld the names of today's dead until next of kin are notified. It also declined to furnish the nickname of the plane, since this would serve to identify the crew to persons familiar with the 43rd group when it was in Tucson. The B-50's usually bear nicknames, the most famous of which is "Lucky Lady," which flew non-stop around the world earlier this year.

A royal air force rescue squadron recovered the 12 bodies from the smoking, twisted wreckage within two hours after the crash.

Guard Wreckage

The plane, one of the newest types in the U. S. air force, is designed to carry conventional bombs as well as the atom bombs. The RAF threw a guard around the wreckage to protect secret equipment.

Flaming high octane gasoline from the shattered plane set fire to big stacks of wheat straw stacked in the field. The fire spread to adjoining farm buildings. Fuel lighting equipment from towns fought the flames.

The B-50 belonged to the 43rd bombardment group which flew here from its base in Tucson, Ariz., in August. The group now is stationed at Scholthorpe in Norfolk county for 90 days of operational training.

Hope To Headoff Aluminum Strike

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13—(AP)—Harried negotiators worked today against a strike deadline of 12:01 a. m. Monday at the Aluminum Company of America.

Officials of the CIO United Steelworkers said some 20,000 members at nine Alcoa plants in nine states will walk out unless the company agrees to its wage increase and company financed insurance and pension demands.

Alcoa contends the exact demands of the union have not been presented.

Contract talks resumed here yesterday after sessions were recessed last week. There has been no comment from either side on progress of the negotiations.

The nine plants affected are in Alcoa, Tenn., New Kensington, Pa., Badin, N. C., Bridgeport, Conn., Edgewater, N. J., Detroit, Bauxite, Ark., Richmond, Ind., and Mobile, Ala.

Reports Given On Chest Fund Encouraging

Little Ahead in The Business Section Over Year Ago

"I want to know how we are doing on this Community Chest Drive," said Jack Cunningham, general chairman, to the two young women at the Chamber of Commerce office who are taking care of the Community Chest money as it comes into the office. "How do we compare with last year?"

The adding machine clicked off the figures as the girls went down the lists. The first girl finished her adding and compared notes to find that the advance sales had increased $17,000 this year. There was a bit of chatter at this point on whether to be proud of the gain or not. It should be a greater gain some of the group thought and others were pleased that there was a gain even if it was only $17,000.

Gain in Business Section

Then the adding machine stopped again and the second young woman beamed with satisfaction. There is a gain in the business section this year of $726,000. The comparison of the two divisions were of the same firms, checking what they had given this year and what they had given last year. Only about one-third of the business district contributions have been turned into the Community Chest headquarters and the increase of the first third looks favorable.

One young woman believes that she has hit upon quite a method of getting money for the Community Chest. Starting out on her territory Tuesday morning she decided to make her first call on a neighbor in the same apartment house, who was on her list. When she asked for the contribution the neighbor woman came back with: "Why yes, I want to give, I'll just donate that dollar you owe me." The Community Chest worker was a bit taken back but she didn't think it was a bad idea at that. After all she was going to pay the neighbor back anyway and if she could put the dollar in the Community Chest Fund that was all the better. So that is what she did.

Door to Door Solicitation

Anyone who has ever worked on a drive of any kind just wouldn't turn the solicitor from the door without giving a donation if they had even a nickel in the house. These workers, who have already given their own contributions, go from door to door asking for funds to help other people. It is such a wonderful spirit they have leaving their work at home or at the office undone while they make their calls. Giving hours of their time and when they are successful they are so thrilled when they return to headquarters and are able to make a good report.

Plan Step Up Negotiations To End Strike

Inspections Must Be Made Before Trains Can Begin Operation

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13—(AP)—Negotiators announced late today they plan to step up their efforts to end the 35-day-old Missouri Pacific strike.

After they wound up a fourth day of talks on 232 union claims that led to the walkout, trustee Guy A. Thompson of the railroad announced:

Start Work Earlier

"We are not making the speed we would like and therefore will start 30 minutes earlier tomorrow and will have a session tomorrow night."

Thompson said it is "possible but doubtful" that negotiations will be completed this week.

Under a settlement formula accepted by both sides last week, the railroad and the four striking unions are to agree on some method of resolving any claims not settled by negotiation. The 5,000 striking trainmen are to return to their jobs as soon as such an agreement is reached.

Neither side would say how many of the claims have been disposed of. Thompson said a few claims already taken up had been set aside "but there is always the chance of resolving them."

To Notify Inspectors First

Plans were announced for speeding the return to normal operations by the railroad as soon as the strike is settled. All of the railroad's idled locomotives must be inspected in accordance with federal regulations before they can start rolling again.

Roy E. Davidson, spokesman for the striking brotherhoods, estimated this would take three days.

"When it is apparent that the strike will end within three days, we will notify the inspectors to start work throughout the system, so their inspection will be completed by the time the strike ends," Davidson said. He added that such notification has not been given yet.

Loses Legs And Arms In One-Man Bailer

OLUSTEE, Okla., Oct. 13—(AP)—A farmer lost both legs when he tried to free his arm caught in a hay bale here today.

C. B. Hughes, 33, lay in his field for two hours after the accident. He attracted his wife's attention by setting fire to a bale of hay.

She drove him to an Altus hospital, 14 miles away. Doctors said it was miraculous that he lived through the experience.

Doctors described his condition tonight as "fair." They said his arm would be amputated when he is strong enough to undergo surgery.

His wife gave this version of the accident:

Her husband was operating a one-man baler when he caught his arm. He tried to free himself by applying pressure with his feet but slipped into the fan-belt mechanism.

His legs were sheared off just below the knees. Unable to attract anyone's attention by his screams he set fire to a bale of hay.

Then to stop bleeding and relieve pain he stuck his legs into flames.

The doctors later said this action probably kept him from bleeding to death.

They said such an accident under the conditions usually results in quick death but that Hughes had a good chance to pull through."

A 76 Year Old Man Is Sentenced To Year In Jail

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 13—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson waited anxiously tonight to hear the story, their blood would tell.

Walter told Magistrate A. M. Olmsted Clark tried to swat him with a cane, then bit his hand.

Walter was convicted of peace disturbance when Clark showed the magistrate he had no teeth.

Speaking rather sharply, the President said they never had an intelligent investigation from the beginning so he sees no sense in continuing it.

The Senate committee, headed by Senator Hoey (D-N.C.), turned up testimony that Mr. Truman's Army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, several times intervened with government agencies in behalf of friends who had business with them.

It also heard that one of the business men whom Vaughan aided gave him seven home-freezer units, one of which went to Mrs. Truman.

The committee investigation was directed primarily to the activities of men who, for a fee, endeavor to get government contracts for others.

India's Stand Given By Prime Minister Nehru

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—India "cannot be and shall not be neutral" where freedom is menaced or justice threatened or aggression takes place, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Congress today.

The slender leader of India's millions addressed first the House of Representatives, then the Senate. He wore western style clothing and spoke in clear, easy English.

The lawmakers received his assurance with loud applause.

Nehru, who is in the United States on a month-long good will tour, rejected the idea that conflict is inevitable. He said that "every prayer that an Indian raises ends with an invocation to peace," and he asked America to understand his country's approach to international problems.

$72,100,000,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13—(AP)—A damage suit for $72,100,000,000 was filed in federal court today by two Los Angeles financiers. Attorneys said it was the largest damage action in history.

Arthur R. Van Wyke and A. E. Harris, Los Angeles, charge that a metallic lubricant was adulterated, resulting in huge losses for the product.

Several former employees, the Standard Oil Co. of California, A. E. Innis and associates and 100 John Does are defendants.

A suit for $12,000,000,000 (B) was filed against Innis and others Tuesday charging wrongful withdrawal of company funds.

No Government Plan To Seize Coal Mines

It's Lewis Talk And President Says He Has No Such Plans

By Harold W. Ward

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 13—(AP)—John L. Lewis talked today about possible government seizure of the coal mines to end the strike.

But President Truman said he has no plans for such.

Operator sources discounted any possibility of outright government operation, saying there is no legal way to bring it about.

Lewis listed a "bona fide" seizure as the government's alternative for settling the coal strike—rather than by injunction or the kind of federal operation there has been in other years.

Holds A News Conference

He brought this out at a news conference in which he disclosed his demands would raise the price of producing coal by 30 to 35 cents a ton.

He said this increase could be absorbed from profits and would cost the consumer no more. Operators denied this.

The burly UMW chief said the union doesn't want seizure and is against nationalization of mines.

Clark, 23-year-old Navy veteran of Boise City, Okla.,

Clark's body, a bullet wound in the head, was found yesterday near a lonely road 3½ miles south of here.

Kickoff For Chest Monday

Goal Of $20,300 In Community Campaign With Many Workers

The red feathers are ready, the workers are ready, everything is set to start the nine day Community Chest Drive which begins early Monday morning with two kickoff breakfasts, one at Bothwell hotel and one at Hubbard school.

The goal to be raised is $20,300.

All captains and workers are asked to be at the breakfast at 8:00 where Jack Cunningham, general chairman will give last minute instructions.

The Rev. Warren Neal will be the principal speaker.

A good breakfast, which will be served through the courtesy of the Bothwell hotel, should put the workers in the mood to go out and do the job right. Enthusiasm is running high with the workers who are hoping to be able to turn in their cards with one hundred percent contributions. Competition between workers will be keen.

The Sedalia Life Underwriters Association are participating as a unit on one division of which Abe Silverman is chairman.

To Have Red Feathers

The Woman's division is well organized and the women are anxious that all homes they visit will be ready with their Community Chest donations and will want their red feathers. They remind the women on which they will call that wearing a red feather is the latest fashion for the next nine days and anyone without one will be out of style.

The board members and others interested in the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army, the Melita Day Nursery and the Teen Town are taking an active part in the Community Chest Drive this year.

The members of the Negro division have their red feathers, ready, too, because two of the participating agencies in the Community Chest Drive belong to them. The Negro Day Nursery and the Negro Teen Town. The workers of that division will be on hand for the breakfast at Hubbard school at 8:00 o'clock Monday morning. This breakfast was made possible by the Rice Leghorn Farm, who furnished the eggs, the West Side market who supplied the bacon and the Stewart Avenue Market to donated the sugar, cream, coffee and bread.

Two Injured In Bus-Car Wreck

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 8.—(P)—Two persons were injured tonight in a sideswipe collision between a passenger car and a school bus two miles west of Jefferson City on U. S. highway 50.

Jerry Shores, 12 year old corner player in the California, Mo., high school band was slightly injured.

Twenty three other band members and the bus driver, W. S. McMillan, were unhurt.

But two hours after the mishap, Sammy Earhart of Jefferson City, driver and lone occupant of the other car was still in the operating room at St. Mary's hospital here.

Highway patrol reports indicated he might lose his left arm. The high school band was returning from the football game at Columbia, where the band was one of 29 such units participating in half time display during the game between Missouri and Oklahoma A. and M.

Impact On Economy Due To Strikes Felt

Slight Hope Is Advanced To End Coal Strike Soon

By The Associated Press

Both the vital steel and coal strikes were stalled on dead center Saturday and the nation's economy began sagging under the impact of growing scarcities.

The steel strike started its second week with no sound of peace talk in the air. No contract talks are set and there was no hint of early government intervention.

The coal strike went through its third week with only a slight hope that settlement might come soon.

At the behest of federal mediators, John L. Lewis and the operators have agreed to resume their so far futile contract talks in West Virginia Wednesday afternoon.

Both disputes have cut down production, distribution and purchasing.

Auto production for the week, cut by some temporary layoffs, was 3,500 units below the 151,593 units produced a week ago. Freight car-loadings were nearly a third below those of a year ago. The reduction in local spending by strikers hurt retail sales in strike centers.

Both strikes will nibble away deeper at the nation's economy this week. Steel and coal stockpiles are spotty. Some concerns already are feeling the pinch.

Would Threaten Welfare

Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Economic Advisory Council, said a month of continued strikes in the two industries would seriously threaten the national welfare.

One steel company that made peace with the CIO United Steelworkers union—the Central Iron and Steel Corp., of Harrisburg, Pa.—announced a $5 a ton boost in steel plate prices. The firm, which employs 1,100 workers, agreed to finance entirely a pension-welfare program. U. S. Steel, the nation's biggest producer, has said his corporation would have to boost its prices $3 a ton to meet union demands.

More than a million workers are idle in the coal-steel disputes and smaller strikes affecting other industries.

And the next two weeks may tell whether the railroad workers and 20,000 aluminum workers will join the ranks of strike idle.

The 110,000 members of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and enginemen are free to strike after Oct. 19 if they choose.

The Aluminum Company of America faces a strike by the CIO United Steelworkers union Oct. 19 if union demands for a wage boost and free pension-welfare program are not met.

Union officials have not yet authorized a strike vote.

The American Federation of Labor convention at St. Paul, Minn., charted plans for a 1,000,000 member gain in 1950. Key AFL officials said privately they hoped to pull a large portion of this number from the rival CIO unions.

Among the speakers were D. Stokes, of Joplin, who spoke on "The Gideon Ministry"; "Bible Distribution," Harold Smith, St. Louis; "Testament Distribution," Mark Grable, Springfield; "Missouri Challenges The Gideons," Lynn Metz, Poplar Bluff; "The Hotel Ministry," Charles Canright, Kansas City; "The Hospital Ministry," Earl Swanson, St. Louis; "Penal Institutions," Judge Meredith Poplar Bluff, "Youth Testimony," Guy Barkley, St. Louis; "Reformatories," Irvin Raut and "Rural Areas," Ed Whitman, Camdenton.

A discussion on "How to Get the Job Done" was led by Archie Gordon, St. Louis.

Luncheon At Church

The Auxiliary meeting was held Saturday morning at the Fifth Street Methodist church with a luncheon served at 12:30 o'clock by the Friendship class.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. A. B. Avery, of Kansas City, state president.

Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom, acting Sedalia president welcomed the guests and the response was by Mrs. Harold Smith, of St. Louis.

Special music was by Mrs. George Green of Kansas City.

The principal address was by Mrs. James Spalding, of Marshall, who, with her husband spent more than a year in Europe returning home several months ago.

All four men were apprehended by police after a fistfight affair took place in the early morning of August 27, but were released after Derendinger failed to appear against them in police court.

During the man-handling ordeal, Derendinger received a broken nose.

Fined $15 And Costs For Assault

Lewis Bassett, David Cornell, James Carter and Kelly Meyer, all of Kansas City, appeared in Magistrate court Saturday morning, to answer an assault charge upon William Derendinger, which took place on August 27, 1949, according to the information papers.

David Cornell pleaded guilty to the charge of assaulting Derendinger and was fined $15 and court costs, consisting of $32.50. The heavy costs were attributed to the summoning of 12 persons as a jury, which was dismissed after Cornell pleaded guilty. The other three were dismissed.

All four men were apprehended by police after a fistfight affair took place in the early morning of August 27, but were released after Derendinger failed to appear against them in police court.

The soft glow of candles lighted the Epworth Methodist church Tuesday night, October 4, when Miss Maxine Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hatfield, 911 South Prospect avenue, became the bride of Lieutenant Herbert Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stevens, of route 2, Sedalia.

Baskets of gladioli, pompon and large chrysanthemums, all in white, with palms, formed the altar setting for the ceremony, and were interspersed with four floor standards, entwined with huckleberry, two with nine and two with seven burning tapers. Huckleberry was used about the communion rail and eight candleabra, each with three candles, were at the aisle posts.

The marriage took place at 7:30 o'clock and the double ring service was read by Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd, pastor of the church.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Joann Harrell, at the organ, played: "I Love Thee" by Greig, "Because," by Hardelet, "Always," by Irving Berlin, "I Love You Truly," by Bond and "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

As the mother of the bride entered the church Miss Harrell played, "O, Perfect Love," by Barnby.

Miss Lois Green alto sang, "At Dawnning" by Cadman and "O, Promise Me," by Scott and Koen with Miss Harrell as accompanist.

During the ceremony Miss Harrell played "Evening Star" by Wagner and as the processional, The Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin," by Wagner with Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her ivory satin gown was fashioned with fitted bodice buttoned down the back and full gathered skirt lengthening into a chapel train.

Below the yoke of bridal illusion was a wide row of puffing with rounded effect. Two rows of puffing were on the skirt sloping gradually toward the back, one extending down into the train. The sleeves were long and pointed over the hands. Her veil of imported bridal illusion, was of fingertip length and cascaded from hand pleated satin head-dress which was caught at the sides with stephanotis. Her only ornament was a necklace of three strands of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom and she carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Joe Swope. Her bridal bouquet was of stephanotis centered with white orchids and tied with wide satin ribbon.

Mrs. William R. Lyles, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a gown of cedar colored taffeta made with fitted bodice and full gathered skirt worn over hoops. A row of puffing edged the off shoulder neckline and a band of puffing was also used around the bottom of the skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums.

O. Bowden, Mrs. Floyd Wagner, Mrs. Jessie Wagner and Mrs. Frances Kemp.

Those unable to attend but who sent gifts were: Mrs. Marvin Bedford, Miss Lavona Fisher, Mrs. Bud Holloway of Lake Ozark; and Mrs. Glenn Kirkpatrick.

Mrs. Stanley Palmer played Barcarolle, from tales of Hoffman, Waltz, Brahms, Clair de lune, by Debussy, as a prelude; followed by The Bridal Chorus, from Lohengrin; and for the recessional, Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Miss Delores Martin sang At Dawnning, by Cadman; One Alone, by Romberg, and I Love You Truly, by Carrick Jacobs Bond.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, chantilly lace yoke bordered with seed pearls, and a full bustle back skirt, which extended into a short train. Her finger tip veil, of illusion and lace, fell from a beaded lace bonnet.

She carried a large arm bouquet of white mums.

Mrs. Sophia Mutton, 310 East Fourth street, entertained with a dinner on Sunday evening, October 2, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Minnie Marsh. The dinner was a surprise to Mrs. Marsh.

Other guests were Mrs. Frances King and Mrs. W. F. Fry.

Mrs. Ivan Davis of 1620 South Sneed avenue entertained a number of friends of her grandson, Davy Payne, and their mothers October 4th in honor of Davy's third birthday.

The home was decorated with autumn garden flowers. Following a play period light refreshments were served.

On July 1st, total employment in Sedalia stood at seven thousand, seven hundred eighty-six. On October 1st, total employment dropped to six thousand two hundred twenty-one, a loss of one thousand five hundred sixty-five. About eighty-five per cent of this loss is the result of strikes or layoffs in railroad employment. The non-railroad employment of ninety-eight major Sedalia employers stood at four thousand thirty-three on October 1st as compared with four thousand one hundred ninety-eight on July 1st, a loss of one hundred sixty-five. Most employment opportunities occurred in manufacturing industries with one hundred thirty-six new hires in September. Retail trades hired one hundred fifteen hundred during the same month, most of which were replacements," Mr. Brown stated.

Mr. Brown points out that the cooperation received from Sedalia employers participating in the initial survey has been excellent. Employment figures will be gathered.

Finishing Touches At Rosenthal's

Finishing touches are being made to all three floors of the newly constructed Rosenthal's Department store, 116 South Ohio avenue, and when completed in the near future, a grand opening will be held. According to Roy Buehrle, general manager of the store, it will be one of the finest stores of its kind in Central Missouri.

Cramer and Schrader Construction company finished with the physical construction of the building and turned it over to Mr. Buehrle. The manager did not say when the store would be opened, but indicated it would be very soon.

Evolve New Plan on Tax Collecting

Single Operation On Withholding And Old Age Insurance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(P)—The Internal Revenue Bureau announces plans for "streamlining and improving" collections from employers of withholding taxes and old age insurance contributions.

The two collections, now made separately, will be consolidated into a single operation throughout the nation beginning next January 1.

Revenue Commissioner George J. Schoeneman said the government will save "well over $1,000,000 a year in interest costs, and substantial additional clerical costs in handling documents."

"The plan also is expected to effect substantial savings to employers generally," he added in a statement.

Regulations Out Soon

Final regulations will not be issued until late October so that interested persons will have a chance to make comments or suggestions. The principal parts of the plan:

1. To substitute a new combined form (Form 941) for Form W-1, now used for reporting income tax withheld from wages, and Form SS-1A, now used for reporting taxes due under the federal insurance contributions act.

2. To extend to both the employee and employer taxes due under the insurance contributions act the system whereby employers make monthly deposits of income tax withheld from wages, and then use the depositary receipts in place of cash when making payment on quarterly returns.

3. Deposits are to be made in the 12 federal reserve banks but employers may, if they wish, give their tax deposit to authorized commercial banks for forwarding to the appropriate federal reserve bank.

4. Blank forms of a new depositary receipt, Form 450, will be furnished employers for use in making deposits. These forms will be validated by the reserve banks upon receipt of the deposits, and the validated receipts will be sent to the employers for attachment to their quarterly returns on Form 941.

Wanting Wife From Germany Heldup Bank

Air Force Sergeant Captured Soon After Robbing Ark. Bank

DES ARC, Ark. Oct. 13—(P)—A bespectacled Air Force sergeant carrying a wad of currency was arrested today shortly after a country bank was held up.

The soldier, recently returned from overseas, told officers he robbed the bank for money to bring his wife to this country from Germany.

Held Without Charge

He was identified as Jack Charles Walden, 27, Little Rock. He is being held here without charge.

Walden, wearing civilian clothes, was nabbed at Stuttgart, 30 minutes after a lone-wolf gunman robbed the Planters Bank & Trust Co., at De Valls Bluff and fled in an automobile with about $2,000. That was at 1 p. m.

DeValls Bluff is 20 miles south of here and Stuttgart is 25 miles south of De Valls Bluff. Des Arc, county seat of Prairie, is about 55 miles northeast of Little Rock.

Arkansas state police Sgt. W. T. Bolin said J. H. Calhoun, in charge of the bank, had identified the six-foot soldier as the gunman.

Obtained $1,848.75

Cash amounting to $1,848.75 and a German Luger pistol were taken from Walden. The money was turned over to the bank.

Walden said he was returned to the United States Sept. 29 from Germany and given a 45-day furlough before he was due to report to Scott Air Base, Belleville, Ill., for reassignment.

Police Chief I. H. Stringer of Stuttgart quoted Walden as saying:

"I want to get my wife over here. That's why I stuck up the bank."

Stringer, Deputy Sheriff W. B. Appleby and Street Commissioner Cecil Thomas apprehended Walden near the Stuttgart golf links after being alerted by City Marshal Joe Harper of Hazen. Harper had followed the suspect's car until his own machine ran out of gas.

Walden surrendered without resistance. He said he had borrowed the car he drove from a Little Rock woman.

Bolen and Deputy Sheriff I. H. Forrester of Prairie county took custody of Walden at Stuttgart and returned him here. They stopped at De Valls Bluff enroute.

The bank is a branch of the Planters Bank at Forrest City, Ark.

No Verdict Yet In Communists Trial

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(P)—A federal jury was sent to bed at 9:21 p. m. CST tonight, leaving the fate of the nation's 11 top Communists still in doubt after five hours of deliberations.

The jury was directed to resume its secret debate at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow.

The jury got the historic case at 2:33 p. m. this afternoon.

They argued it in private until 4:40 p. m. when they went to dinner. Then they resumed deliberations at 6 p. m. and continued to the overnight adjournment.

In all, they were closeted for five hours and 8 minutes without reaching a decision.

As the hours rolled by, eight of the 11 defendants idled in the first floor courtroom or in the corridor outside. Three still are behind bars during off-court hours for contempt of court.

Their second request for the book "problems on Leninism" led to a 55-minute discussion by attorneys in the judge's chambers.

Vote After Long Debate on Power Commission

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(P)—

The House today refused to accept the Senate's bill to set up a flexible system for farm price supports. It stood by its own measure continuing the present program of 90 per cent of parity price for the major crops.

However, the House agreed to negotiate with the Senate on a compromise, through a House-Senate conference committee. This committee may face a rugged tug-o-war between representatives of the two bodies before any agreement is reached.

The vote came shortly after midnight. It followed weeks of debate which steadily mounted in heat and bitterness.

Opponents shouted that Olds is a foe of capitalism, that 20 years ago he wrote articles that helped promote communism.

Senators supporting the nomination countered with charges that private gas and oil interests were backing the fight against Olds.

They substituted it for the one-year continuance of wartime-level price supports voted by the House in mid-July. Leaders of the coalition said they are confident the House will accept the Senate version eventually.

Farm-minded House members talked equally optimistically on forcing senators to take their one-year extension of existing price props at least for 1950—a year when all 435 House members and more than one-third of the Senators must face the farmers and other voters.

Both the Senate and House bills peg their proposed price supports to percentages of parity. Parity is a price for a farm product deemed to be fair to the farmer in relation to the cost of things he has to buy.

Take in Help Cost

However, the Senate bill would revise the parity formula to take into account the cost of hired hands.

Under the Senate bill, the government would support major crops in 1950 at 90 per cent of parity, but only if they were under production or marketing controls. After 1950, support levels could range down to 75 per cent.

Under the House bill, support would continue through 1950 at the 90 percent of parity levels that were in effect during the war.

House leaders planned to send the bill to a conference committee — sometimes called the third chamber of Congress — to try to adjust differences.

Appealed To Congress

The President went all-out to win approval for Olds even after the Senate Commerce Committee had voted 10 to 2 against him. He made appeals direct to Congress.

Then he set the Democratic National Committee to raking the grass roots in support of the nominee. He asked that the party's national committeemen and Democratic governors rally support for the
